

DOING WHAT MATTERS FOR JOBS AND THE ECONOMY
Division of Workforce and Economic Development

The Chancellor's Office Division of Workforce & Economic Development has announced the intent-to-award grants to the following in support of the Doing What MATTERS for Jobs and the Economy \(DWM\) framework. These grants establish a network of technical assistance providers focused on providing real-time and look-ahead regional labor market research and data that is validated by industry partners, connect business and industry with community colleges and workforce and economic development professionals, and advance the workforce mission. The grantees will inform regional college consortia as well as sector-based initiatives in the collective efforts to close the skills gap. Additionally, grantees will provide data support for the regions and sectors to align labor market workforce demands with training capacities at the colleges, within the region, and across the state along industry specific sectors. These grantees were selected through a competitive statewide process and will become effective in July 2014, pending formal Board of Governors approval and standard RFA processes.
