Educational Attainment is the Key to the Future of the Economy

THE LABOR MARKET IS INCREASINGLY DEMANDING A MORE SKILLED WORKFORCE.

IN THE 1970s
28% of jobs required more than a high school education.

IN 1992
56% of jobs required more training.

BY 2020
65% of job openings in the U.S. will require some postsecondary education or training - though not necessarily a four-year degree.
