

Employers now have priority access to qualified HVACR workers. It's a way to keep the shrinking labor pool from shrinking your business. The idea is to offer options to employers for making their workforce a competitive advantage.

Strong Workforce. Built to Industry Standards

The program engages a group of community colleges partners to align their HVACR programs with the specific needs of employers in LA, Orange, Riverside, and San Bernardino counties. These colleges are gearing regional training programs specifically to projected job openings, reducing barriers to HVACR market growth. Participating employers will benefit from this source of qualified replacements for HVACR workers who will soon retire or leave the workforce.

There's no cost, no hiring obligation, no meetings to attend. It's simply a way for participating employers get first look at certified HVACR workers as they prepare to enter the labor pool.

Register: <http://www.eeusector.com/prop-39/hvac-employers/>

CALIFORNIA COMMUNITY COLLEGES
Doing What MATTERS™
FOR JOBS AND THE ECONOMY

For more information, contact: Jim Caldwell (925) 899-2665 www.eeusector.com